Wedding and Birthday Anniversary.

About 100 friends and relatives met at W. S. Brock's, Saturday night, and marched in a body to the residence of E. Willey to give them a surprise on their 33d wedding anniversary, and also on Mr. Willey's 63d birthday. Mr. Willey had retired, but he quickly arose and dressed and when Mrs. Willey returned from the library she found a jolly crowd present. Mr. Faris, pastor of the Beattie Meeting House, was present and as he performed the wedding ceremony 33 years ago he was the speaker of the evening. He gave a vivid account of the wedding which he said took about an hour and a half to perform, as he was obliged to keep them waiting as they were from Monroe, N. H., and he was in Vermont. After consulting lawyers and the judge it was decided that as he had one in his congregation from New Hampshire it would be legal, and he proceeded to marry them. Mr. Roberts of Monroe spoke very pointedly, and solos by Mrs. Dow and Mrs. Roundy were finely rendered. Mr. Burns, acting pastor at Monroe, spoke very amusingly. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Strobridge of Barnet, also Dr. Eliott spoke finely. The quartet, as usual, did excellently and this comas usual, and excelently and this completed the program, after which ice cream and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Willey received a gift of $50 as a slight appreciation of the esteem in which they are held. Mr. and Mrs. Willey have always helped so willingly in the public interest that this is only their due. Great credit should be given Dr. Eliot, as he was the prime mover in this pleasant evening. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Willey and it is hoped they may be here for 33 more anniver-

CABOT. Death of Mr. Wells.

The people of this town were greatly shocked last Friday morning to learn of the sudden death from apoplexy the night before of Col. Merton D. their leading citizen. Mr. Wells was born in Woodbury, March 13, 1866, and a few years later moved to this town with his parents. He was a graduate of St. Johnsbury Academy, and filled many places of importance. He succeed-ed his father as town clerk which office he held for several years. In 1902 he represented the town in the Legislature. In 1904 he was elected state senator from Washington county, and the same year was on Gov. Bell's staff. He was largely engaged in mercantile business. He was part owner in the well-known firm of Wells & Rogers in Cabot; in the firm of Wells & Boyles in Montpelier, and in the firm of Wells & Drenan of St. Albans. He was a man who had the full confidence of the community, and his word was considered as good as his note. He was a member of the Congregational church and its organist and choir leader for many years. He was also a member of the Masonic lodge and Odd Fellows organization in this town. A union memorial service was held in the church Sunday, both Masons and Odd Fellows attending in a body. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Sparhawk, assisted by Rev. Fred Blodgett. Addresses were made by the clergy, members of each order, and ex-Gov. Bell. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at his late home. All places of business were closed during the hour of the service and the burial in the village cemetery. He leaves a wife and two daughters, his mother and a sister. Mrs. Lottie N. Smith will sell her farm at public auction at her residence near Cabot Plain on Thursday, Sept. 23, at 10 o'clock, also considerable personal property. George W. Cook of West Danville, auctioneer.

Miss Hathaway of Boston is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Edwin Gould. Carl Harvey is in town. L. Lyford and bride have returned from their wedding tour. A quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Blodgett, Saturday, when their daughter, Julia D. Blodgett, was married to Charles K. Cole of Concord, N. H. Miss Dorothy Belle Blodgett was ring bearer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. B. Blodgett of Essex, a brother of the bride. A large number of valuable presents testified to the esteem in which these young people were held. After a trip to Burlington and Lake George, Mr. and Mrs. Cole will reside in Concord, N. H., where the groom is an electrician. Among those from out of town were Miss Alice Blodgett of Barre, Arch W. Cole and Mrs. Mary A. Cole, Marshfield, Rev. and Mrs. F. B. Blodgett of Essex and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Prouty,

Graustark.

A play that points to a moral and makes life worth while is "Graustark," the dramatized version of George Barr McCutcheon's bewitching book, which is to be the attraction at The Colonial. Thursday, Sept. 23. The moral that it teaches is, there are no heights to which a man with courage and perseverance may not climb, and its incentive to live in its charming romance, that indescribable something which makes all the world love a lover, and innoculates one with a feeling of divine bliss and aspirations for higher ideals. Mr. McCutcheon's delightful story is enhanced by the later day scenic effects that adds realism and gives to the play an atmosphere of the obscure European principality the author had in mind. The throne-room scene is spoken of as a masterpiece of theatrical mechanism, massively built and gorgeously decorated to the point of dazzling one. It is in this scene that the most intensely dramatic portion of the play takes place, and it is said to be sensational.
